MedGyn Celebrates 40 Years!

When MedGyn Products Inc. opened its doors in 1975, its sole mission was to develop trusted products for women's healthcare. At MedGyn, we develop each of our products to ensure quality for physicians and patients. In fact, our products are designed by physicians and inspired by patients. We customize each product to make it the most innovative on the market.

One example is the AL-106 HD Digital Video Colposcope. In 1975, MedGyn launched the AL-102 binocular colposcope, a necessary equipment used by OB/GYNs to examine the cervix. Since then, MedGyn added four binocular colposcopes in its line and in 2003 launched its first digital colposcope, the AL-106.

In 2014, MedGyn launched the AL-106 HD Digital Video Colposcope, the only high definition digital colposcope in the US market. At MedGyn, we continue to innovate and enhance each product for the benefit of the physician and patient.

MedGyn's specialty in Gynecology Oncology increasingly grew with its addition of the Cryotherapy System. The product is used around the world particularly in underdeveloped countries to treat cervical cancer. The product is used by leading physicians and was also reviewed by the World Health Organization. Currently MedGyn partners with leading NGOs including the Gates Foundation, Path, and BHI to deliver improved healthcare with the use of the Cryotherapy System.

The MedGyn MGC-200 provides superior freeze and instant defrost needed to treat cervical cancer precursors. Working with the staff at MedGyn has always been a pleasant, efficient, and professional experience.

The AL-106 model allows for better instrument manageability and maneuverability when compared to other colposcopes. The resolution of the images far surpasses those obtained by other models.

This year MedGyn celebrates its 40th anniversary and manufactures and distributes over 1,000 products in therapies including Gynecology Oncology, Obstetrics, Infertility, Urogynecology. MedGyn exports to 100 countries and was also the recipient of the State of Illinois Exporter of the Year Award in 2014. Our future success is to continue developing innovative high quality products to improve women's healthcare worldwide!
